

Anna District Historical Society

The Anna District Historical Society is an educational organization whose main purpose is to promote and educate an awareness of the rich historical heritage that exists within the confines of the Anna, McCartyville and Kettlersville areas. The Society's intent is to promote this awareness by means of meetings, historical programs, research, commemorative activities and tangible historical memorabilia. A museum may be established to further this purpose and to display acquisitions of historical materials which it may acquire.

Memberships shall be open to persons who are interested in the objectives of this Society and who are willing to aid and assist in promoting and encouraging the same.
